Before joining Right Networks, Jonathan Lupa worked as the Vice President for Tax Software Technology at Thomson Reuters. Jonathan has deep expertise and a passion for designing and operating large-scale software systems in addition to creating and optimizing high-performing teams. As Chief Technology Officer for Right Networks, he will govern the development of the entire cloud and software product business lines and the emerging technologies teams.

Thomas LeSaffre, Vice President of Strategy and Corporate Development

As the Vice President of Strategy and Corporate Development, Tom will assess new product and market opportunities, oversee mergers and acquisitions, and ensure operating plans align with the company's overarching business strategy. Before joining Right Networks, Tom spent nearly 10 years leading finance and business operations at multiple startups, in addition to several years in investment banking.

"Our business continues to grow as we work to deliver the solutions and services accounting firms and professionals need to run modern and thriving businesses," continues Hughes. "We are delighted to have Jonathan and Tom on our team and look forward to watching their contributions deliver additional benefits to our customers."
