

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us sentence of 20 years.

Jason Bramwell • Aug. 02, 2022

A CPA from San Fernando Valley, Calif., pleaded guilty on July 15 to one count of wire fraud for helping a longtime client fraudulently obtain a $1.2 million COVID-19 business loan by preparing a false corporate tax return on the client's behalf.

If convicted of the wire fraud charge, 73-year-old Bernard Turk of Tarzana faces a maximum sentence of 20 years in federal prison.

In February 2021, Turk, who runs a tax preparation business in Tarzana, helped his

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us sports cars. Qadiri pleaded guilty in July 2021 and is awaiting trial.

According to federal prosecutors, Turk prepared a false federal corporate income tax return, claiming that Agency 126 paid employees $5,383,401 in wages during the 2019 tax year. Turk gave the false 2019 tax return to Qadiri to submit to a bank to support the PPP loan. To hide his involvement, Turk marked the false tax return “self-prepared.”

Turk admitted that both he and Qadiri knew that Agency 126 had no employees, paid no wages, and never filed tax returns with the IRS.

Qadiri electronically submitted the false tax return that Turk prepared to the Small Business Administration (SBA) and the bank in support of Agency 126's fraudulent PPP loan application. On the false 2019 tax return submitted to the bank, Qadiri removed the “self-prepared” designation and replaced it with Turk as the preparer, prosecutors said.

Relying, in part, on the false tax return, the bank and the SBA approved and funded Agency 126's PPP loan and wired $1.2 million to a bank account that Qadiri controlled. For his role in the scheme, Turk was to receive a percentage of the loan proceeds when the bank forgave the loan.

Turk's sentencing hearing is scheduled for Oct. 7.

Accounting

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us