Corvee, a software and solutions company serving tax and accounting firms, has added a free tax savings strategies library to its website. The library gives tax professionals access to more than 1,500 detailed tax planning strategies to help save their clients money on federal, state and local taxes.

There are many different types of tax optimization strategies tax professionals can use to help lower their clients' tax liability. Some strategies can take advantage of tax deductions to lower taxable income. Some use tax credits to reduce tax liability. And others – such as entity and compensation optimization – change one of the many factors that affect taxation. This library of tax savings strategies was created by the tax planning experts at Corvee and allows tax professionals to learn about each strategy in detail.

The tax planning strategy library is ever-growing as the Corvee team of tax experts continues to analyze the tax code for tax-saving opportunities.
