I graduated with a bachelor degree in accounting from Georgia State University. After internships in tax and audit, she decided to join the corporate accounting world, working for Intralot, Inc., a lottery technology and manufacturing company.

There, I grew from staff accountant to corporate controller in less than 7 years. By that time, I was leading a team of 15, overseeing all accounting and finance functions, including A/P, A/R, general ledger, tax, and treasury.

From there, I moved on to more FP&A-focused roles at Boehringer Ingelheim, a global pharmaceutical company, where I was the finance business partner for different business units.

A common theme in my career has been process improvements and team development, whether through redesigning existing workflows, or implementing new systems.

- As a Certified Small Business Mentor with SCORE and Pacific Community Ventures, I mentor local entrepreneurs who need guidance on accounting and tax issues, on a pro-bono basis.
- I'm also an advisory board member and the treasurer of a non-profit organization called H.O.P.E., inc. This organization is focused on helping single parents complete higher education degrees through rent and mortgage assistance, childcare, mental health support and financial literacy training.
