“It’s important for women considering a career in accounting to have women role models, women they can look up to who are leading the charge, who they can see themselves being,” said Gail Perry, editor-in chief of CPA Practice Advisor. “For this reason, we are delighted to partner with the AICPA to give women leaders more visibility and celebrate their accomplishments. We’re excited to open the nominations for the 2023 Most Powerful Women in Accounting.”

The AICPA is committed to continuing to spearhead women in the profession. Through its partnership with The Chartered Institute of Management Accountants through the Association of International Certified Professional Accountants, the AICPA is better positioned to help women make their mark in the accounting and finance profession.
