“We’re honored to be presented with this award, and excited our team created an event format that appeals to younger members,” said INCPAS President & CEO Courtney Kincaid, CAE. “The blended education, networking and volunteer group service brought together key learning elements that professionals don’t always have the time to seek out separately.” INCPAS intends to build on this success in 2023 by hosting an event with a similar format, but at a different exclusive venue and with a new volunteer project. Details will be posted at incpas.org/YPForum.
