As part of an ongoing effort to give students an opportunity to learn, grow and get hands-on experience, Fourlane recently launched a $375,000 scholarship Endowment Fund for students at The University of Texas at Austin McCombs School of Business.

The scholarship is spearheaded by Marjorie Adams, Founder and CEO of Fourlane, pioneer of implementation and “ERP” related services in the small- to mid-sized business space, providing thousands of clients help with their financial systems,

The Fournalane experience is unique because it focuses on advisory and leadership versus traditional bookkeeping roles, such as tax and audit.

“At Fournalane, we look for creative thinkers and leaders who can strategically help our customers grow and build relationships based on trust, loyalty and results,” said Adams. “We believe the young minds of today’s student base are more than capable of doing just that, helping carve out a niche and get invaluable experience, while also teaching me and the Fournalane team along the way.”

Fournalane has already had McComb students intern for several years and welcomes the next wave through this new scholarship Endowment Fund. For more information about the fund and how to apply, click here.
