AbacusNext, a software provider for legal and accounting professionals, has announced the addition of Greg Reynolds as chief technology officer, Arik Moav as chief financial officer, and James O'Connell-Cooper as senior vice president of marketing. These latest additions round out the company's executive team and demonstrate its dedication to taking professional services firms further with modern technology solutions.

Reynolds brings more than 25 years of experience in engineering cloud solutions for the automotive, financial, insurance and benefits industries. Most recently, he served as CTO at Businessolver where he led a significant modernization of the core platform and supported considerable revenue growth.

Newly appointed CFO Moav comes to AbacusNext from GoodRx where he served as senior vice president of finance. Moav led the IPO process as the company went public. He has extensive leadership experience in finance and business development in both B2B and direct to consumer companies in fintech, health care and biotech.

O’Connell-Cooper’s work has spanned the U.S., Canada, Japan, Australia and his
