

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us has led to tax questions.

Feb. 08, 2023

By Leada Gore, al.com (TNS)

The IRS is telling some people to wait to file their 2022 tax return, a group that could represent millions of taxpayers.

The issue comes with stimulus payments paid by individual states in the last year. A

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us the rules surrounding them are complex,” the IRS said in a statement.

Answers on how taxes will be handled are possible as soon as next week. In the meantime, the IRS advised people “wait until additional guidance” is available before filing their returns.

“For taxpayers and tax preparers with questions, the best course of action is to wait for additional clarification on state payments rather than calling the IRS. We also do not recommend amending a previously filed 2022 return,” the agency said.

©2023 Advance Local Media LLC. Visit al.com. Distributed by Tribune Content Agency LLC.

Income Tax • IRS • Taxes

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved