“We are excited to bring this latest functionality to our lease accounting software,” states Ane Ohm, co-founder and CEO of LeaseCrunch. “We are committed to working with our customers to ensure they have the right tools at their disposal to help them be as productive as possible. This Reports Center does just that . . . allows them to access reports easier and quicker as well as saves them for future use.”

In addition to the new Reports Center, the company has released updates within the amortization schedule export. These updates provide more detailed data sets for users, create consistency between standard guidelines and enable users to reconcile accounts in less time.

To learn more about these updates, visit www.leasecrunch.com.
