Being recognized for its clear commitment to providing superior technology products and solutions to small- and mid-market businesses, LeaseQuery has joined the Information Technology Alliance (ITA). ITA is the highly-regarded international not-for-profit association of leading Consulting firms and VARs, CPA firms, and technology product/service providers. The ITA invitation was extended because of the exceptional level of support and service LeaseQuery has provided to their business partners and clients, and for LeaseQuery's commitment to being a leader in the information technology (IT) industry.

LeaseQuery provides a software platform built by accountants to enable accounting teams to move complex accounting out of spreadsheets and into the secure cloud. The CPA-approved, SaaS platform removes the complexity of transitioning and complying under the domestic, international, and governmental accounting standards – ASC 842, IFRS 16, GASB 87 and GASB 96. Since its inception in 2011, this platform has continued to simplify accountants' lives by arming them with the

“Being an ITA Alliance Partner is a great way to meet, and network with, some of the biggest and best firms in the IT business,” said Joe Gruca, Chief Revenue Officer of LeaseQuery. “We are always looking for ways to improve our products and to help our business partners get bigger and stronger. Having this ITA membership opportunity will allow both our people, and our clients, to be more successful in the future.”

As a new ITA member, LeaseQuery will attend the ITA 2023 Spring Collaborative in Vancouver BC Canada April 23-25, 2023. Spring Collaborative attendees are all leaders of the IT profession throughout the United States and Canada, including IT consultants and service providers, software publishers, client accounting service (CAS) professionals, and the internal technology leaders of most large CPA firms.
