services whether it's family office, royalty compliance, valuations, audit, tax consulting, or business management."

Dean Avedon said while he and Ross reviewed potential accounting firms to make a deal with, it was important to them to find one that shares BRA's values, instills an entrepreneurial approach in their work, and can go above and beyond for BRA's clients. He said Armanino was that firm.

"As a part of Armanino, we have access to more tools, talent, and expertise that will greatly benefit our people and our clients. The immediate cultural symbiosis we've had since we first met the team will lead to greater opportunities all around," he said.

Ross added, "From international and multistate tax, to royalty auditing and tour accounting, Armanino offers a deep bench of experts and brings valuable support to help us go above and beyond for our clients.
