Many accountants and bookkeepers struggle with process inefficiencies, dated technologies, scope creep, and high friction with client collaboration, resulting in extreme workload pressures and limited capacity in their practices and lives. In other words, they are “flapping” when they should be “soaring!”

The training sessions and main stage sessions at Scaling New Heights 2023 will address the issues that keep you from soaring with cutting-edge CPE-eligible education on practice management, pricing strategies, process automation technologies, hiring strategies, engagement management...and more.

The annual Scaling New Heights conference is a leading accounting technology
