

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us financial legacies and minimize tax hurdles.

Jun. 21, 2023

By Tylor Willis, CFP, The Kansas City Star (TNS)

Most of us want to preserve or grow our wealth.

One crucial aspect of wealth management is creating a holistic financial plan that includes your estate and tax strategy. By employing effective estate and tax strategies, business owners can optimize their financial legacies and minimize tax hurdles. Here are four strategies to consider adding to your financial plan.

1. Establish a comprehensive estate plan

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

2. Use trusts for asset protection

Trusts serve as powerful tools in estate planning enabling business owners to protect and manage their assets while reducing estate tax exposure.

Irrevocable trusts let individuals transfer assets to future generations while minimizing estate tax consequences and providing potential income or gift tax benefits. Trusts also offer enhanced privacy and protection from creditors, making them a valuable component of wealth preservation strategies.

3. Consider charitable contributions

Charitable contributions provide a dual benefit of supporting philanthropic causes and reducing estate tax liabilities. Donations to qualified charities can result in income tax deductions and generate estate tax deductions, effectively lowering the taxable estate.

Philanthropic foundations and donor-advised funds offer further flexibility and control over charitable giving, enabling business owners to leave a lasting legacy while optimizing tax benefits.

4. Life insurance as a wealth transfer tool

Life insurance is an invaluable tool for high-net-worth individuals aiming to provide liquidity to their estates and minimize the impact of estate taxes. Irrevocable life insurance trusts allow individuals to exclude the insurance proceeds from their taxable estates, ensuring a tax-free transfer of wealth to beneficiaries. By structuring life insurance policies appropriately, individuals can create a tax-efficient vehicle to pass on substantial assets to future generations.

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Tylor Willis, MBA, CFP, CPWA, is a member of the Financial Planning Association of Greater Kansas City. He is a managing partner and senior wealth advisor of Private Wealth Management for UMB Bank in Leawood, KS.

©2023 The Kansas City Star. Visit kansascity.com. Distributed by Tribune Content Agency LLC.

Benefits • Small Business • Tax Planning • Taxes

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved