FORVIS

The top 10 U.S. accounting consultancy firm FORVIS will add to its public sector client services capabilities with the acquisition of assets of the software technology and consulting company Thales Consulting, effective August 1.

Founded in 2002, Thales Consulting creates software and provides consulting services related to government financial reporting. Thales developed The Reporting Solution (TRS), a software as a service (SaaS) platform that streamlines the preparation of financial reports, including the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report (ACFR), through collaboration and efficient reporting processes. Thales works with hundreds of public sector clients across the country to help them enhance responsiveness and transparency. FORVIS has been a certified implementer of this tool since 2020.

“Thales Consulting is an established team that brings an impressive skill set to FORVIS,” said Denny Ard, partner and national director of EDGE, the innovation lab of FORVIS. “Their product, their unique knowledge of the public sector industry, and their focus on excellent client service are some of the many reasons we decided to explore working together. We welcome the Thales team and look forward to offering
