government advisory practice.

Isaac M. O'Bannon • Oct. 11, 2023

CohnReznick LLP has acquired the Construction Monitorship and Public Sector Forensic Investigations Division from Exiger, a SaaS company. CohnReznick is one of the leading advisory, assurance, and tax firms in the United States. The staff and contracts are being absorbed into CohnReznick's rapidly expanding government advisory practice. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

While bolstering CohnReznick's robust integrity monitoring capabilities, this strategic acquisition also gives CohnReznick added government-focused expertise in internal audit, construction audit, engineering, M/W/DBE compliance program reviews and investigations, and project management.

This comes at a time when the firm’s public sector and public-private partnership funds.

“Our government advisory clients look to our team to provide them with highest level of integrity monitoring and compliance services for major, highly regulated projects. These include large public construction, natural disaster recovery, and many other projects,” said Frank Banda, managing partner – Government and Public Sector Advisory.

“Integrating the team and resources from Exiger with the outstanding team we already have in place deepens our bench strength and broadens our capabilities during a time when many clients are seeking our assistance with infrastructure funding. We’re also proud to be expanding our airport integrity monitoring work as a result of this transaction, including new work from an existing client and the addition of a major international airport on the East Coast.”
