Prudence Musubi, senior accountant for ArcFyre International, a joint customer of Quadient and Xero, commented, "One thing that I love about the system is that it effectively eliminates duplicate payments, flagging such invoices for investigation. And I like the fact that once you code everything on the system, it's a quick process. We can easily pull any report and verify if the content system has captured accurately the data in the invoices. We then know that the system is working perfectly. The onboarding of Quadient AP with Xero was smooth, and we are already seeing positive results from the streamlined process."

"We are excited to welcome Xero to our growing partner program," said Chris Hartigan, chief solution officer, Intelligent Communication Automation at Quadient. "Quadient's strategy is to establish partnerships with the world's major enterprise resource planning and accounting platforms to bring industry-leading technology solutions to our mutual customers. By partnering with Xero, we are expanding access of Quadient AP to more accounting teams so they can focus on deeper, more strategic decisioning rather than manual invoice and payment processing."
