data provider Validis to offer auditors a seamless end-to-end audit testing process.

Isaac M. O'Bannon • Jan. 04, 2024

The automation platform DataSnippet has partnered with on-demand accounting data provider Validis to offer auditors a seamless end-to-end audit testing process.

DataSnippet, when integrated with Validis, delivers one audit test workflow to drive significant audit quality and efficiency. Validis provides instant access to financial data provided by the ERP systems from an audit client and structures the data into usable reports with the ability to extract the structured data as an Excel file. This data then flows into DataSnippet and is used by the auditor to automatically match data with audit evidence, supporting a high-quality, easily reviewable audit trail.

“Both of these technologies are bringing about efficiencies auditors can’t ignore,”
