The Cherry Bekaert Foundation (the Foundation) announced its first national partnership with Junior Achievement USA. The partnership will provide $100K in grant donation funding in 2024 for youth financial literacy.

Throughout the year the foundation will offer expanded volunteer occasions with Junior Achievement. The partnership includes year-round occasions for employees of Cherry Bekaert to volunteer with Junior Achievement in the community and schools to educate children on life skills and financial literacy. Volunteer opportunities may include classroom program delivery, special event participation, longstanding support for youth, which aligns to the Foundation's focus area of education.

"We at Junior Achievement appreciate the support of the Cherry Bekaert Foundation in helping young people gain essential life skills in communities across the country," said Jack E. Kosakowski, President & CEO of Junior Achievement USA. "Young people today need access to financial literacy, work and career readiness, and entrepreneurship education. The Cherry Bekaert Foundation's commitment will ensure that happens in communities where both of our organizations have a presence."

"On behalf of the foundation, I am excited to announce our partnership with Junior Achievement USA," said Susan Moser, President, Cherry Bekaert Foundation. "The work Junior Achievement does to advance today's youth and provide early access to education and financial literacy aligns with the foundation's focus, and is complimentary to Cherry Bekaert's volunteerism and the skill sets of our people, having already partnered with them in many of our local offices."

The Cherry Bekaert Foundation supports local initiatives that are important to our people, educates for and promotes philanthropic engagement and gives to causes that create impact for our areas of focus.
