"We currently use Bloomberg Tax Provision, Research, and Workpapers" said Becky Hawkins, Associate Tax Director at Riveron. "It's great to have tools that are interconnected so that you're not having to go to multiple platforms."

"For too long, tax professionals have been hampered by outdated tools and tax software solutions that are focused on the last mile rather than the complete corporate tax workflow. Our smarter, modern suite of solutions was built for today's tax practitioner – to address their challenges, their needs, their process," said Lisa Fitzpatrick, president, Bloomberg Tax & Accounting. "Bloomberg Tax changes the way tax professionals source and prep data using automation. Our AI-powered tools inform tax calculations right at the point of application. And our integrated products take users' data further than ever before."
