

Stay domestic

The benefits of domestic outsourcing for your business

When it comes to outsourcing on-demand, it's important you ensure you're partnering with a company that provides you with CPAs and EAs from our nationwide network of Tax Professionals.

Streamlining communication

The cornerstone of good work is effective communication. Outsourcing offshore risks communication barriers, different time zones, and people who haven't worked in an accounting firm. With Taxfyle, our partners can rest easy knowing they have someone in their timezone with years of experience working in and around different firms. This is all made even easier through Taxfyle's proprietary platform, which features a robust document management tool and enables seamless communication with our Tax Pros.

Our network's Pros are reliable

Outsourcing offshores leaves your firm at risk of working with questionable freelancers and liable to security risks. Most international services aren't designed to be run as partnerships, and as such, don't scale with your firm.

At Taxfyle, we make you our partner. We take the time to make sure the Pros working with your firm will fit your needs perfectly, and they will act as an extension of your firm when you need it. To ensure you'll be working with people you can trust, each Pro needs to pass a background check and provide us with:

- ✓ A government-issued ID
- ✓ Proof of Preparer Tax Identification Number (PTIN)
- ✓ Proof of Electronic Filing Identification Number (EFIN)
- ✓ A copy of their EA Credential or CPA license
- ✓ An up-to-date resume

"[Taxfyle] made sure they were [located in] California, so they knew already the California tax laws as opposed to having somebody in New York prepare a California return."

Access the nation's top Pros

Our domestic network of CPAs and EAs have an average of 12 years of industry expertise. We connect you with Tax Pros who are familiar with your state's tax requirements, and unlike services that offer less experienced talent, Taxfyle delivers highly competent and experienced tax professionals that you can trust.

Rest assured knowing your clients' data will remain secure

Outsourcing overseas increases the risk of security breaches. You won't be taking any risks when you use our domestic network. Protect our partners through a SOC-2 compliant platform, compliance requirements and data encryption.
